Washington - Second grade students participated in an Authors' Tea...

A celebration of student learning we are very proud of is the Authors' Tea in second grade. Second grade students participated in an Authors' Tea following their Small Moments unit. Teachers invited all family members to the Tea where students shared a published Small Moment of their choice. They had a great turnout and most of the student authors had a family member to watch them read their story. It was so inspiring to see the second graders stand up in front of family and friends and read their own stories with such confidence and pride. In first grade, authors chose their favorite story to display during a gallery walk where their friends could walk around and read the many different small moment stories.
